Decrease in IIT placements:

Campus placements mark the culmination of a tedious four-year journey for students pursuing undergraduate programmes at IITs. Typically, campus placements unfold in two phases, starting from June-July the previous year and concluding by April-May in the current one. However, the current hiring season has witnessed subdued activity compared to the previous years. And it's not just the case for newer IITs. While the top 7 IITs hold greater significance due to their enduring legacy, the placement situation has looked bleak in both older and newer IITs, given they face the same job market challenges.

In 2024, out of 21,500 students who registered for placements, only 13,410 secured jobs, leaving 38 percent still searching. This is a significant increase compared to two years ago, when 3,400 students, or 19 percent, were unplaced. At IIT Bombay, about 665 students, or 34% of the total participants in this year's placements, remain unplaced as of April. Students in branches other than CSE had limited opportunities in their primary field forcing them to try off-campus opportunities or apply in the already competitive software sector.

According to a news report, one of the reasons for the decrease in placements could be the continuous dilution in the level of entrance exam as well as the major chunk of students joining through reservations (around 50%). Obviously the marks scored in an entrance exam do not decide how a student performs in placements, however, an easier path in joining the college may lead to a false sense of safety and lack of motivation within them considering that in the past it was regular for the majority to get good job offers. According to Shantanu Rooj, CEO of TeamLease Edtech, IT majors have traditionally been the highest recruiters from IITs. However, global uncertainties and lower demand from the US clients have compelled them to hire a lesser number of freshers this year. Advancements in AI, Machine Learning (ML) and Data Science have helped many organisations to automate lower-level tasks, and several other tasks are being outsourced to GenAI platforms, thereby reducing the demand for fresh talent.

A step in the right direction for the Institutions would be to revamp their curriculum focusing on practical and industry-relevant skills since the ongoing courses are not aligned with the job market's demands.

Thomas Hardy(June 2, 1840) and Dan Brown(June 22, 1964):

Both Thomas Hardy and Dan Brown, born in the month of June, have made indelible marks on the literary world through their unique storytelling and profound exploration of human experiences.

While Hardy's works offer a window into the social fabric of the 19th century, Brown's novels captivate modern readers with their thrilling narratives and intellectual depth.

Publication of To Kill a Mockingbird (June 1960):

Harper Lee's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel 'To Kill a Mockingbird' was published in June 1960. This seminal work addresses serious issues such as racial injustice and moral growth in the American South.

The First American Edition of Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone (June 26, 1997):

Published as Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone in the United States, this book introduced readers to the magical world of Harry Potter. J.K. Rowling's series has since become a global phenomenon, significantly impacting children's literature and popular culture.

Anne Frank's Diary Entry (June 12, 1942):

On her 13th birthday, Anne Frank received a diary in which she documented her life in hiding during the Nazi occupation. Her diary, later published as 'The Diary of a Young Girl' provides a poignant and personal account of the Holocaust, offering invaluable historical and literary significance.

Indian General Election 2024:

General elections were held in India from 19 April to 1 June 2024 in seven phases, to elect all 543 members of the Lok Sabha. On 7 June 2024, Shri Narendra Modi confirmed the support of 293 MPs to Smt. Droupadi Murmu, the Hon'ble president of India and this marked Modi's third term as Prime Minister and his first time heading a coalition government(NDA). The primary opposition was the Indian National Developmental Inclusive Alliance(INDIA), a coalition formed by the Indian National Congress (INC) and many regional parties in 2023.

The overall election result was described in several media sources as a 'shock' to the BJP government, with it falling short of the expectations of winning 400 seats. Though pre-poll predictions were for an overwhelming majority for the BJP, the INDIA bloc performed much better than exit polls had predicted it to, with upset victories in major states such as Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra and West Bengal.

The Samajwadi Party candidate Awadesh Prasad defeated BJP candidate Lallu Singh in Faizabad Lok Sabha seat by over 50,000 votes. Temple city Ayodhya falls under Faizabad seat, one of the 80 Lok Sabha seats of Uttar Pradesh. This was perhaps the biggest shock of the elections since the building of Ram Mandir by BJP was considered a competent move to secure the seat. The people there however seemed not to forget the repercussions it brought, with everyday riots and the breaking down of thousands of houses and shops. The Congress emerged as the single largest party in the south winning in majority states with 42 seats, while the BJP was ahead in 29. The BJP's gains mainly came from Telangana, where it was ahead in eight seats.

वह बात अधूरी न रह जाए

-स्मित मौर्य CSE - 2026

न जाने क्यों चुपचाप रहते हो तुम
मन से बाहर आने को, तड़प रही बातों को
होठों से दबाकर रोक लेते हो तुम
जो बात कहनी थी तभी, ज्यों ही मन में आयी थी
वो किसी डर से, किसी झिझक से, किसी भ्रम में
छुपा लेते हो तुम

पसंद करते हो किसी को तो कह दो
प्यारी लगती है बातें किसी की तो कह दो
कह दो कि तुम्हारे साथ बिताया हुआ हर पल
आखिरी सांस तक याद रखने लायक है
दिल में गूँज रही कविता उसे कह दो
मेरी आँखों में तेरे आंसू हैं
मेरे होठों पर तेरी मुस्कान है
मेरे साँसों में तेरी खुशबू है
मेरे दिल में तेरी धड़कन है
उसे कह दो, कह दो।

शक की कोठरी में कैद मन की गौरैया चहचहाती न रह जाए
खोल देता पिंजड़ा अगर,
तो वह प्रेम के आसमान में ऊँची उड़ान भर रही होती
यह पछतावा न रह जाए
सही-गलत की कश्मकश में जज़्बात की नाव भटकती न रह जाए
वह बात अधूरी न रह जाए।

नाराज़ हो किसी से तो नाराज़गी जता दो
बेवजह की नाराज़गी तो नहीं होती
कुछ बात होती है, तकरार होती है
विचारों के संघर्ष में कभी-कभी
दिल पर चोट बार-बार होती है
क्या पता नाराज़गी की वजह बताने पर ऐसी सफाई मिले
कि नाराज़गी बेवजह लगे
क्या पता सफाई न मिले, लेकिन उसके मनाने के तरीके से
आपकी अहमियत को वजूद मिले
और न मिले सफाई अगर
न मनाने की हो कोशिश मगर
तुम नाराज़गी के इस ज़हर को उतार फेंकना
माफ़ी मांगी जाए या ना मांगी जाए, माफ़ कर देना

नाराज़ है कोई तुमसे अगर
तो एक बारी उसकी नाराज़गी की वजह पूछ लेना
समझाने से समझे तो समझा देना
और आपकी ही तरह जिद्दी है
तो माफ़ी मांग के उसे मना लेना

कहीं नाराज़गी में कुछ अनमोल पल गुम होकर न रह जाए
तुम्हारी-हमारी चुप्पी ज़िन्दगी भर की खामोशी बनकर न रह जाए
वक़्त रहते दिल की उलझी धड़कनों को हम-तुम सुलझा लें
वह बात अधूरी न रह जाए

बात करना ज़रूरी है
क्या पता किसी को दुखभरी, दर्दभरी, तन्हाई की ठण्ड में
आपकी हमदर्दी की गर्माहट मिल जाए
किसी परेशान भटकते राहगीर को
आपकी बातों की रौशनी में अपनी मंजिल मिल जाए
कोई बुझी हुई हुनर की लौह आपके प्रोत्साहन से फिर जल उठे
या किसी क्रोध की, नफ़रत की धधकती ज्वाला शांत बैठ जाए
बात करना ज़रूरी है, वह बात अधूरी न रह जाए

कई रिश्ते बच जाते, कई जंगे रुक जातीं
कई ख्वाब सफल हो जाते, कई आँखें नम होने से बच जातीं
काश शब्द से दूरी हो जाती
अगर वह बात पूरी हो जाती

गलतफहमियों के भंवर में सच्चाई की रस्सी छूटकर न रह जाए
गुरूर की आग में रिश्ते जलकर न रह जाए
जो बात संवार सकती थी ज़िन्दगी तुम्हारी-हमारी
वह बात अधूरी न रह जाए
वह बात अधूरी न रह जाए

'AND THEN THERE WERE NONE'

- by Agatha Christie

The world's best selling mystery novel with over a 100 million copies sold, 'And Then There Were None' by Agatha Christie is widely regarded as one of her greatest works and has earned its place as a cornerstone of the mystery genre. First published in 1939, the novel has continued to stand the test of time. The novel's plot revolves around a group of ten strangers, each with a hidden past, who are invited to a secluded island under various pretexts.

Soon, they discover that they have been brought together by a mysterious host who accuses each of them of past crimes and begins to exact his own form of justice.

The story begins with each character receiving an invitation to Soldier Island, a remote location off the coast of Devon, England. Upon arrival, they find themselves isolated from the mainland and without any way to leave. The tension mounts as, during dinner, a gramophone recording accuses each guest of committing murder and escaping justice.

The guests are shocked and deny the accusations, however the atmosphere of mistrust and fear slowly but surely begins to grow. The guests soon discover a sinister nursery rhyme displayed in each room. The rhyme becomes a chilling countdown, predicting the fate of each character.

Christie's narrative is a brilliant blend of psychological tension and suspense. The isolation of the island serves as a perfect backdrop for the unfolding drama. Each character's backstory is well-developed and intricately woven into the plot, revealing their darkest secrets and potential motives for murder. Christie expertly explores themes of guilt, justice, and retribution, delving into the psychology of her characters as they confront their past deeds and present fears.

The pace is relentless, with each chapter ending on a cliffhanger that propels the reader forward. The red herrings and misdirections are expertly placed, keeping readers on their toes and engaged until the final revelation. In the end, Christie ties up all loose ends, providing a logical yet unexpected conclusion that leaves readers in awe of her storytelling prowess. 'And Then There Were None' is more than just a mystery novel, it is a study of human nature and the moral complexities of justice. It raises questions about guilt and punishment, exploring the lengths to which people will go to escape their past.

THE CONFLICT

"In war, truth is the first casualty."

The Israel-Hamas war, now waging in its 9 th month, and a part of the greater Israeli-Palestinian conflict raging since decades, has become one of the darkest events in the history of humanity. Sadly, it is not a page in our history textbooks that we can reminisce about and turn over, it is happening right now.

This isn't a call for an uprising. Countless have been, and continue to be. It's not in our hands to wield weapons in the battlefield, or declare victory or defeat. But there is something else we can do.

The idea of war has never been alien to humans. Ever since the evolution of mankind, and as far back as history goes, wars have always been waged - for security, for revenge, to assert dominance, or in the name of religion.

Protolithic humans fought with stones. Stones evolved into swords and arrows. Swords and arrows turned into guns and cannons. Guns and cannons shifted to missiles. Missiles gave way to nuclear weapons - for the sake of destruction, no ruin is enough havoc.

But wars are not born out of steel and gunpowder. Neither do they spring forth from the cold mechanics of tanks, or the precision of missiles. They are wrought out of rage. The rage that smolders in the hearts of people. The rage that is born not overnight, but one that is sown in naïve hearts and grows in its ire.

The rage that spreads like a wildfire and cripples minds like a plague.

Hatred and rage do not appear out of thin air. They begin as mere whispers of discontent, nurtured by biases and discriminatory thoughts. It is when these whispers become shouts, echoing through communities and nations, pitting people against one another, that this turmoil manifests as war. The weapons, then, are mere tools - one of the tools, if I may add - to let out the rage that has been festering within.

Since the start of the war, we have witnessed the creation of another battlefield, where the war is fought, not with weapons, but with words and ideas that fuel this hatred - a war fought on the digital frontlines of social media.

In today's day and age, when social media has become a powerful amplifier of people's voices, it acts as a dangerous tool capable of sparking conflicts that transcend physical distances and cultural divides. A simple post or comment can turn into a full-blown combat zone, polarizing the virtual community with misconceived ideals and half-truths.

And this is where we bring a change. When they find a hundred reasons to spread hate, find one to bring love. And in a case where you find yourself devoid of love, stand tall with a shield of compassion against the thrashing cascade of hatred and animosity.

The real conflict lies in the heart. The day this conflict is resolved, all battles will be won.

मेरे साथी

चलते-चलते खुदसे मैंने ये इकरार किया है,
तुम्हारी होठों को मेरी नज़रों ने ये इज़हार किया है,
हमेशा सोचता हूँ रहूंगा शांत पर हो जाता तुझे देखकर बेचैन यूँ
लिखु नज़म बस पढ़ना तुम कि प्यार कितना बेकरार किया है।
रखा दिल का पन्ना तुम्हारी ही कलम की श्याही के लिए मैं खाली,
सबको दीदी बोलता फिरु पर तुम्हें बनाना चाहता है अपने सपनों की रानी,
तुम्हारे सामने चुप हो जाता वैसे देता मैं काफी गाली
पाप धोने आया ये पापी जैसा तुम पवित्र गंगा का पानी।
तुम गर्मी में शीतल जल तड़पु जैसे मत्स्य बिना तुम्हारे,
या तुम साथ या तुम्हारी तस्वीर जो मन में बसी है हमारे,
आए जब भी इश्क-ए-महफिल में दूर से तेरी आंखें दिख जाए
सुकून लगे ये काफिलाना जब बातें करू आखों से मैं तुम्हारे।
तुम्हें रूठने का शौक तो अपनी मीठी बातों से माना लूंगा,
नाचने का शौक है तो तुम्हारे लिए गाने का धुन भी बना दूंगा,
तुम्हारी नशीली आँखों से कैसे बचू अब
तुम एक नज़र जो देखी तो बिना तीर के गिर के घायल हो जाऊंगा।
तुम्हारी ये जुल्फे सहलने को जी हमेशा करता है,
ये दिल तुम्हें दिल देखकर दिल टूट जाने से डरता है,
कभी तो मेरी दिलो आशिकी में तुम तुम्हें
ये तुम्हारा आवारा हर पल तेरा होकर तेरे लिए मरता है।
मिला खुद को तुमसे तो मिला मैं खुद से और ये जिंदगी बदल गई
तुम्हारे आने पर रुकी मेरी महफिल खूबसूरती भी तुम्हारे आगे फ़ीकी लगी,
कहना तो काफी कुछ पर तुम्हारे सामने जाते ही मेरी जबान ठहर जाती है
दिखाया तुम्हारा चेहरा तो चंद्रमा भी देखकर शर्मा गई।
लोग सिर्फ करना चाहते हैं प्यार शीतल रात में चांद से,
मैं ना देखु तुझमें चाँद शायद अलग मेरी आशिकी का अंदाज़ है,
मेरे लिए तुम जैसे सूर्य चारों ओर घूमू चारों ओर तुम्हारे बनकर पृथ्वी
रोशन करती मुझे तुम्हारी ज्योत और सह लूँगा तुम्हारी ज्वाला जो प्राप्त होगा तुम्हारे आक्रोश से।
तुम्हारे ऐनक के प्रतिबिम्ब में बस मुख मेरा रहे,
तुम्हारी नज़रों में तुम बस एक इंसान मेरी नज़रों से देख तुम मे मुझे पूरा जहां दिखे,
लिखू तेरा नाम पत्थर पर और उससे बनाऊ प्रेम का मंदिर,
जिसमें तुम रहो एक मूरत और ये प्रेम पुजारी तुम्हारे आरती हर पल उतरता रहे।

Portrait of a Lady on Fire

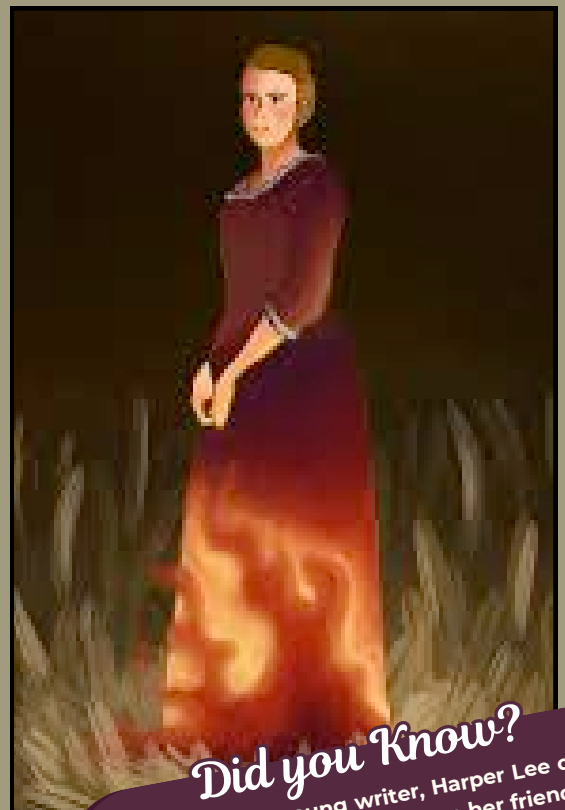

A review by Bonta Aalaya, DSAI - 2027

SPOILER ALERT

'Portrait of a Lady on Fire,' is a masterclass in storytelling. From the compelling protagonists to the exhilarating narrative, each scene sets out to craft the delicate relationship between two ordinary, yet remarkable women. Set in the late 1700s on a remote French island, this beautiful film deftly captures the budding romance between Heloise, a French aristocrat, and Marianne, a painter hired by Heloise's mother to paint a wedding portrait of the aforementioned affluent lady. While in theory it may seem like a simple plot, it is quickly revealed that Heloise does not wish to be wed, and thus, Marianne must complete the portrait in secrecy, stealing clandestine glances at Heloise as they accompany each other on walks, and reproducing each inch of her face on a canvas; solely off memory. Initially, the two are dismissive of one another, with Marianne only observing Heloise's facial features and the other woman barely making the effort to start a conversation. As the two bond over Marianne's white lies and Heloise's sincerity, they find common ground. This dynamic between the artist and her muse ultimately leads them to develop feelings for each other, challenging the societal norms of their time. When Marianne finishes the portrait, she reveals her true intentions to Heloise, leaving her with a complex concoction of emotions. Heloise, with a heavy heart, asks to at least see the painting, to which Marianne obliges.

The aristocrat is disappointed when she views the portrait, commenting that it lacked life. Marianne defends it by telling her that art has rules, and also that she had to paint by memory. To Heloise, the portrait was a gaze in her direction; painted by someone who seemed to know very little of her. Heloise then agrees to pose for the portrait, extending Marianne's stay. She wanted to give the painter another chance to truly express how she saw Heloise on the canvas. The scene shifts to a bonfire where the women of the town gather around to sing and dance. Among the festivities, Heloise and Marianne exchange glances multiple times throughout the night. The fire symbolizes their quest for love, a large flame threatening to obstruct the path they tread. It burns so gallantly, in fact, that Heloise's dress catches on fire. Marianne goes on to paint this exact moment, earning the movie its title - 'Portrait of a Lady on Fire'. Sciamma's direction, coupled with the stunning cinematography and use of color, creates a visually arresting film. The performances by Noémie Merlant and Adèle Haenel bring depth and authenticity to their characters' forbidden romance. "Portrait of a Lady on Fire" is not just a film about love; it is a profound exploration of memory, art, and the constraints placed on women. Its nuanced storytelling and rich symbolism make it a poignant addition to LGBTQ+ cinema, leaving a lasting impact on its audience.

ख्वाहिश

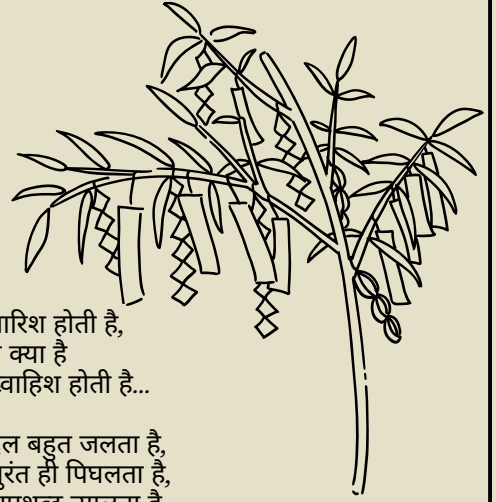

मोहब्बत दो-तरफा हो तो
बिछड़ जाने की गुंजाईश होती है,
एक-तरफा इश्क का क्या है
बस एक झलक देखने की ख्वाहिश होती है...

ना जाने कौन-कौन से ख्वाब सजाये जाते हैं,
ना जाने कहाँ-कहाँ से गुलाब लाये जाते हैं,
ना जाने कितने सितारें बिछाये जाते हैं,
ना जाने कितने महताब बुलाये जाते हैं,
हर वक़्त खुदा से बस
उसके एक मुस्कान की फरमाईश होती है,
एक-तरफा इश्क का क्या है
बस एक झलक देखने की ख्वाहिश होती है...

हर वक़्त उसके होने का एहसास होता है,
इस एहसास से हर पल बहुत ही खास होता है,
निगाहों में कुछ इस तरह उसका निवास होता है,
आँखें बंद भी करलो तो उसका ही आभास होता है,
हर सज़दे में सज़दे के बाद

सामने उसके होने की गुंजाईश होती है,

बस एक झलक देखने की ख्वाहिश होती है...

देखकर किसी और के साथ दिल बहुत जलता है,
उसी वक़्त उसकी मुस्कान से तुरंत ही पिघलता है,
उस व्यक्ति को देखकर बहुत अपशब्द उगलता है,
पर उसकी खुशी की खातिर सारा क्रोध निगलता है,
उसके दिल में बस खुद के सिवा

The Last Night Near The Shore

Wandering through the dark nights with sand below his toes..
Standing aside the roaring waters, feeling a heart which froze..
Being alone with no soul aside but despair holding his hands..
Tears merging with the tide, knees kissing the sands...

Darkness engulfed him in despair, all he did was to mourn..
Thought of sewing some dreams but they were all shattered and torn..
Waters appeared to him, shining like pearls in the moonlight..
Neither his days nor nights were bright....
Dipping his knees in the deep cold sands, he came across a state of hopelessness..
Felt the coldness of life and trapped himself in mesh...

ii
Wounds were all he was taking with him.. Memories were less with some bright and some dim..
Too fleeting was the game of his heart he could neither win nor lose..
Choosing the path of "Silence", he shed his "Words" with refuse...

The ambiance was shed with a silence of grief and no words he uttered..
All his body was deep down in sand and waters from top cluttered..
Dead soul with no body is all present near the shore....
Losing the battle of life, he lost his urge to live anymore..
Coming near the shore, he expected him to fight..
Himself he didn't knew it was none but his last night...
